THEY PAID THE MOST FOR LEADS NOBODY CALLED.

One team found this in their own database. It's worth checking yours.

ONE IN FOUR OF A TEAM'S MOST EXPENSIVE LEADS NEVER GOT A SINGLE CALL.

Not a cold lead. A paid one, sitting untouched.

THE LEAK ISN'T LEAD VOLUME. IT'S THE ONES ALREADY BOUGHT.

Barry Jenkins of the Legacy Home Team, with Marissa Canario, had an AI tool read his team's lead database at Zillow Unlock 2026 and found that one in four of their most expensive leads had no call logged, ever. This is what one team's own database showed, not an industry figure. The instinct when pipeline feels thin is to buy more leads. The cheaper fix is checking whether the ones already paid for got worked at all.

RUN THIS BEFORE YOU BUY ANOTHER LEAD:

1 Pull every paid lead from your CRM.
Any platform that tracks call logs works. No new tool required.

2 Flag every one with zero calls logged.
That's the leak, whatever the percentage turns out to be on your own list.

3 Work those first, before spending on new leads.
You already paid for them once.

4 Make this a monthly audit, not a one-time check.
The gap reappears the moment nobody's watching for it.

THE TAKEAWAY

THE MOST EXPENSIVE LEAD YOU OWN IS THE ONE YOU PAID FOR AND NEVER CALLED.

Check your own list before you buy the next one.
