EVERY AGENT ACTUALLY GETTING LEADS FROM YOUTUBE LOOKED A LITTLE BORING AT FIRST.

Sarah Maslowski, a $140M+ producer out of Metro Atlanta, built her whole channel on that.

03 / 05

SHE STOPPED TRYING TO SOUND LIKE SOMEONE ELSE ON CAMERA.

On Keeping It Real, Sarah Maslowski said the moment that changed everything was watching the agents who were actually getting leads and closings from YouTube and noticing they weren't polished. They were regular agents talking about their own market. That's when she says she realized, in her own words, "I don't have to be something that I'm not. I just have to show up as myself." That's the same voice she's used to close over $140 million in real estate directly from YouTube, with no paid ads and no cold calling.

WHAT SARAH MASLOWSKI ACTUALLY TELLS AGENTS WHO HAVEN'T STARTED:

1 Script it with a teleprompter app, don't wing it.
It costs more time up front, but your thoughts come out cleaner and the editing goes faster.

2 Talk about your own market, not a content calendar.
Neighborhoods, commute times, what surprises people when they move there. If you live there, you already have the material.

3 Let the editor do the polishing.
Every stop, stumble, and retake disappears in a good edit. You only have to give it something to work with.

THE TAKEAWAY

CLIENTS ALREADY TRUST THE VOICE YOU USE WITH THEM.

The camera doesn't need a different one. That's the whole strategy behind the $140 million.
