

KALE REALTY

YOU TALKED THEM INTO A NUMBER THEY REGRET.

The push happens in escrow. The house-poor part shows up eight months later.

“

"IT'S ONLY
TWENTY BUCKS A MONTH" IS NOT THE REAL MATH.

It skips the part where the tax bill resets to match the higher price you just talked them into.

THE BIGGER NUMBER PAYS YOU MORE TOO.

A buyer sets a ceiling when they're calm. Three lost offers later, exhausted, they'll agree to almost anything you suggest. When you talk them from their number up to the next one, you didn't just win them the house. You raised your own commission on the same call. Nobody says that part out loud, and it's the real reason "it's only twenty bucks a month" keeps coming out of agents' mouths.

BEFORE YOU PUSH PAST THEIR NUMBER, DO THIS:

- 1 Run the real payment, taxes included, at both prices.
The twenty-dollar line never
- 2 mentions the reassessment that follows a higher sale.
- 3 Anchor to the number they set when they were calm.
Not the one they'll agree to after
- 4 three lost offers and no sleep.
- 5 Say the sentence that can cost you the deal.
"This one's over your comfort line. There
- 6 will be another."

THE TAKEAWAY

ANCHOR TO THEIR CALM NUMBER, NOT THEIR TIRED ONE.

The deal you talk them out of is the one they thank you for in a year.
