

KEEPING IT REAL

SHE HATED HER OWN VOICE ON CAMERA.

Sarah Maslowski still closed $140 million from YouTube with zero paid ads.

SARAH MASLOWSKI HAS CLOSED OVER $140 MILLION IN REAL ESTATE DIRECTLY FROM YOUTUBE, WITH NO PAID ADS AND NO COLD CALLING.

"Comfort comes from doing it, not from waiting until you feel ready."

THE FEAR WAS NEVER ABOUT TALENT.

Sarah Maslowski, on Keeping It Real: "Nobody is comfortable on camera at first. Nobody." When she started watching agents who were actually getting real leads and closings from YouTube, she noticed they were not polished hosts or news anchors. They were regular agents talking about their own market on camera. Her own words: "I don't have to be something that I'm not. I just have to show up as myself and give people the information they're actually looking for."

WHAT SARAH SAYS TO ACTUALLY DO:

1 Script your first ten videos with a teleprompter app.
It removes the pressure of talking off the cuff while you get used to being on camera.

2 Answer one question clients already ask you in person.
Neighborhoods, the commute, what surprises people when they move there. You already have the content.

3 Post the awkward version.
The agents getting leads and closings started awkward too. A good editor cleans up the stops and starts; the footage doesn't need to be clean first.

THE TAKEAWAY

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO NOW.

Open your phone. Answer the one question buyers ask you most about your area. Film it once, post it today, before you watch it back twice.
