

INSIDE THE INDUSTRY

STACKING HASHTAGS IS HURTING YOUR REACH.

Not helping. Hurting. Here's the study.

THE MORE HASHTAGS YOU
ADD TO A POST,
THE FEWER PEOPLE
SEE IT.

That's Instagram's own 2026 data, not a guess.

"USE EVERY TAG. IT'S FREE REACH."

Still the default line in a lot of real estate content coaching. Thirty realtor hashtags, every post, no exceptions. It was true once. It hasn't been true for a while.

31 TO 32 PERCENT FEWER VIEWS.

33 percent fewer interactions too. Instagram posts with hashtags vs. posts with none. Metricool 2026 Social Media Study, 24 million-plus posts analyzed.

NOBODY WANTS YOU TO STOP STACKING TAGS MORE THAN THE TOOLS THAT SELL THEM.

Hashtag-research apps and "growth hack" courses need an easy, teachable tactic. Thirty tags in a template is simple to sell. "Write a hook that holds past three seconds" is not.

WHAT ACTUALLY EARNS THE POST REACH NOW:

- 1 Cut to three to five tags.
Specific and realtor-first. Past that number you are working against the post, not for it.
- 2 Put the real search phrase in the first line.
Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube all read captions like search engines now. The words do the work the tags used to.
- 3 Judge the post on sends, not tags.
A private send to another agent carries three to five times the distribution weight of a like. That's the number worth chasing.

THE TAKEAWAY

DELETE
TWENTY-FIVE
HASHTAGS. KEEP
THREE GOOD ONES
AND A REASON TO SEND IT.

That's the whole strategy now.
