

KALE REALTY

ONE BANK ACCOUNT IS HIDING YOUR PROFIT.

Mix personal and business money and there's no clean answer to "did I make money this year."

“

YOU CAN'T TELL IF YOUR BUSINESS
ACTUALLY MAKES MONEY.

Not because you're bad at math. Because the mortgage, the groceries, and the commission all hit the same account.

COMMINGLING ISN'T A SHORTCUT. IT'S A BLIND SPOT.

When every commission and every personal expense pass through one account, nothing separates what the business earned from what the household spent. Every decision about marketing, splits, or hiring help becomes a guess instead of a number. At tax time, the only tool left is a highlighter and a year of bank statements.

WHAT CHANGES THIS WEEK:

- 1 Open a separate business checking account.
Every commission goes in. Nothing else does.
- 2 Pay every business cost from that account
, not your personal one. Marketing, mileage,
- 3 software, all of it.
- 4 Pay yourself on the same day every month
, like a paycheck, and ask a CPA whether an LLC
- 5 makes sense for you.

THE TAKEAWAY

OPEN THE ACCOUNT BEFORE
YOUR NEXT
COMMISSION
CHECK.

That's the day you'll finally know what you actually make.
