

KEEPING IT REAL

STOP TELLING FSBOS THEY'RE DOING IT WRONG.

One Missouri agent built a top-1%-nationwide business the opposite way.

D.J. Paris
Keeping It Real Podcast

KEEPING IT REAL

keepingitrealpod.com

“

SHE DROPS OFF A PACKET. SHE NEVER KNOCKS.

No pitch, no phone call. Just resources and her cell number on the doorstep.

EVERY OTHER AGENT'S PACKET SAYS YOU'RE DOING IT WRONG. HERS DOESN'T.

Megan Walters, co-founder of the Walters Team at eXp in Columbia, Missouri and NAR's 2026 30 Under 30, pulls her area's FSBO, expired, and withdrawn listings every Monday and Wednesday. On Tuesdays and Thursdays she drives out and leaves a printed packet on each doorstep: a title company, a lender, an inspector, and her cell number. She never knocks, never introduces herself. FSBO and expired leads get sold in bulk and phone-blasted by agents who open with why the seller's plan won't work. Megan is the one who doesn't say that. "I converted so many listings by doing that," she said, "because they would call and say, 'Do you know how many agents just told me that I was being stupid for doing FSBO?'"

RUN THIS THE NEXT TWO WEEKS:

- 1 Pull the list Monday and Wednesday.
Run your MLS for FSBO, expired, and withdrawn listings in your area.
- 2 Build one packet, not a pitch.
A title company, a lender, an inspector, and your cell number. Nothing that tells them they're wrong.
- 3 Drop it Tuesday and Thursday.
No knock, no introduction. Leave it on the doorstep and let the packet do the talking.

THE TAKEAWAY

THE AGENT WHO DOESN'T SAY
"YOU'RE DOING IT WRONG" IS THE
ONE THEY CALL BACK.

"If you're sitting at your desk, you're not doing your job." -- Megan Walters