“

"YOU WILL BE
RECLASSIFIED AS A
GIG WORKER IN THIS SPACE."

Chris Linsell, CMO of The Mitten Group, on agents whose only value is operating a lockbox.

"I DON'T REMEMBER MY DOORDASH DRIVER'S NAME."

Linsell's point: he has used DoorDash twice in the last seven days and can't describe the driver. No relationship, nothing to remember. That is what happens to a service with no name attached to it. His prediction: agents whose only value is opening the lockbox get reclassified as gig workers within 18 to 24 months, paid per door, forgotten by dinner. The agents AI can't touch are the ones a client already knows by name before the showing starts.

WHAT LINSELL SAYS PROTECTS YOU FROM THAT:

- 1 Post one to three short videos a day.
His own words: "no kidding," it's doable, not easy. Talk about the market, not just your listings.
- 2 Get people hooked on you as a person, not just your listings.
Show the work, the wins, even the behind-the-scenes days.
- 3 Stop leading with access.
AI can already open a lockbox app and pull comps. Lead every conversation with what only you know about this deal.

THE TAKEAWAY

POST ONE VIDEO
TODAY. THAT'S
THE FOLLOWING AI
CAN'T BUILD FOR YOU.

The lockbox opens the door. Your name is what gets you the next one.
