

INSIDE THE INDUSTRY

21.2 PERCENT. THE FREEZE JUST FLIPPED.

For the first time, more owners sit above a 6 percent rate than below 3.

THE GROUP STUCK
AT 6 PERCENT OR HIGHER JUST BECAME BIGGER
THAN THE GROUP
UNDER 3.

FHFA mortgage data, tracked by Redfin and
WolfStreet. First time this has ever happened.

THE 3-YEAR FREEZE IS CRACKING.

For three years, owners with a rate under 3 percent would not sell. That group has shrunk every quarter, from 92.7 percent down to 80.3 percent. The owners pushed to 6 percent or higher tripled, from 7.3 percent to 21.2 percent. First-time buyers, who have no low rate to protect, were more than half of every purchase loan in March, the highest share since 2020. The thaw isn't a forecast. It's already moving, quarter by quarter.

WHAT TO DO BEFORE EVERY OTHER AGENT NOTICES:

1 Build a list of twenty owners who bought at the bottom.

One touch a month. No pitch, just presence.

2 Move the day you hear a life event.

A job change, a baby, a divorce, an empty nest. That's what actually unsticks a low rate, not a headline.

3 Stop waiting for a rate story to start the conversation.

The owners moving this year aren't waiting for one either.

THE TAKEAWAY

PLANT THE RELATIONSHIP BEFORE THE THAW. HARVEST THE LISTING AFTER.

The owners are already moving. Get on their list before they get on the market.
