

KALE REALTY

YOUR CONTRACT TYPPOS ARE COSTING YOU DEALS.

The other agent reads it as a warning, and nobody ever calls to tell you.

“

NOBODY CALLS TO TELL YOU YOUR
LOOKED SLOPPY.

The other agent just assumes the whole deal will be sloppy too, and picks the cleaner offer.

THE CONTRACT IS A SIGNAL, NOT PAPERWORK.

A misspelled name, a blank line where an initial goes, an old version of the form: the other agent reads all of it as a preview of how the whole transaction will go. When her seller is weighing two offers, she points to the cleaner one. You never find out that's why you lost.

READ IT OUT LOUD BEFORE YOU SEND IT. THEN CHECK:

- 1 The names match the lender's letter.
A misspelled name is the first thing an underwriter catches too.
- 2 catches too.
- 3 The address has the unit number.
Not just the building.
- 4 The price matches in numbers and words.
Both have to say the same figure.
- 5 The date is right.
A wrong date is the fastest tell that a form got recycled.

THE TAKEAWAY

READ THE WHOLE
CONTRACT OUT
LOUD BEFORE YOU
SEND IT.

You'll hear the mistakes your eyes skip past.
